

HOW THEY LOOKED TWENTY-THREE YEARS AGO

McGUIRE'S SCHOOL, 1890.

James Hall, Malcolm Carrington, Graffereid Hobson, H. R. Lewis, Fred Nolting, S. D. Pleasant, D. H. Smith, Miles Selden, Frank Upshur, Emlen Williams, J. S. Archer, Otis Alfriend, J. R. Bryan, A. G. Crump, Murray Davis, G. L. Fairbank, J. T. Brown, Jr., Charles Bruce, Howard Bruce, W. C. Carr, Cary Carr, E. E. Cone, J. H. Davis, G. L. Davis, R. B. Emory, J. D. Graham, Granville Gray, C. M. Hunter, Willie Keen, B. R. Lewis, Kenneth McCray, W. Matthews, R. Minor, B. H. Minor, H. Murrayman, J. B. Moore, Jr., G. W. Morton, G. H. Nelmyer, S. W. Newkirk, Douglas Gordon, E. T. Harrell, G. W. Newkirk, Frank Hobson, W. M. Hunt, Harry Laughner, John P. Lee, J. M. Lewis, F. W. Minor, Carl Nolting, Morgan Robinson, Waldo Ryder, S. T. Atkinson, W. D. Carr, Henry Carrington, T. E. Clark, F. B. Fry, John H. Page, J. H. Parker, A. G. Randolph, M. Shackelford, Rowley Shepherdson, J. C. Stiles, S. Sytle, C. M. Tallaferra, W. S. Tanner, W. B. Wallace, Byrd Warwick, Jr., Berkley Williams, E. L. Worthington, W. Yarborough, M. G. Goldback, W. M. Hechler, W. S. Hoen, R. C. Lee, E. D. Moore, Walter Morris, William Morris, R. Nelson, Garnett Nelson, C. C. Pinckney, Alfred Polndexter, E. T. Powers, William, Sinkin, E. H. Tanner, William Tyler, Carter Wormley, Willie Bridges, Randolph Bolling, Minor Bronaugh, John P. McGuire, principal.

INDRAKUALA MAY BE BEACHED AGAIN

Forward Bulkhead Leaking Badly, and There Is Danger of Ship's Foundering.

EN ROUTE TO NEWPORT NEWS

Being Towed Stern First, Big Vessel Is Almost Unmanageable.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Newport News, Va., January 10.—Wireless messages received here this evening from the wrecking tug Rescue, state that the forward bulkhead of the British steamer Indrakuala is leaking badly now, and that there is grave danger of the ship foundering while en route here. The pumps are scarcely able to keep the water down in hold No. 2, and the bulkhead is said to be giving way under the strain. If the water gains on the pumps the steamer will be beached again. Towed by the tug Rescue, Britannia and Edna V. Crew and conveyed by the United States Revenue Cutter Apache, the Indrakuala left the Rappahannock this morning. She is being towed stern first, and progress necessarily is slow, as the big ship is almost unmanageable. Weather conditions were favorable, there being only a light breeze. However, it is thick on the bay to-night, and the probabilities are that the tug and their tow will anchor for the night.

It was announced from the local office of the United States Shipping Company, agents for the Indrakuala, that the steamer will not reach port before to-morrow afternoon or Sunday. She will be docked immediately upon her arrival, all arrangements having been made at the shipyard to haul her out.

It is announced now that the investigation of the collision by the steamboat inspectors will not begin before next Monday. The steamboat inspectors will begin the inquiry on the Indrakuala, taking the testimony of Captain Smith and the crew of the ship, and of Pilot Newkirk, of the Maryland Pilot Association, who was on the Indrakuala when she collided with the Luckenbach. In the event that it is found necessary to beach the Indrakuala again, it will be two weeks before she can arrive here. Mechanics from the local yard would be sent to the ship by tug boat to make temporary repairs so that the vessel could be floated. Concrete would be used to fill up the hole in the bow.

One Body Recovered.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Heathsville, Va., January 10.—Wreckers are at work around the place where the Luckenbach sank in Chesapeake Bay. One body, of a seaman, was reported last night leaking in Fairfield.

Hundreds have been going out daily in boats to the scene of the wreck.

In Fairly Good Condition.

Norfolk, Va., January 10.—The British steamer Alcazar, with a crew of twenty-three, which was in distress off the Carolina coast for two weeks and was reported last night leaking and calling for assistance off Diamond Shoal lightship, passed in the Virginia Capes under her own steam to-day with a bad list to port, but otherwise in fairly good condition.

INJURED BOY IMPROVING

Conditions favorable for Horace Smith, whose lung was pierced by shaft.
Horace Smith, the fourteen-year-old lad, whose lung was punctured by a bicycle shaft when he collided on a bicycle with a vehicle at Allison and Grace streets, was reported last night at St. Luke's Hospital to be making satisfactory progress after an operation.

The blunt shaft tore a horrible hole in the boy's right lung, and his situation is regarded as critical.

WOUND MAY BE FATAL

Sorell's condition critical, following lung ride with two bullets in the breast.
R. C. Sorell, the young Spotsylvania man, who rode sixty miles by train to Richmond Thursday night with two .38-caliber bullets lodged in his breast, was in a very critical condition in St. Luke's Hospital, and his physicians fear that the astonishing exhibition of endurance put up by the wound may now rebound fatally. It is feared that he overtaxed himself and seriously weakened his powers of resistance.

The bullet shaft tore a horrible hole in the boy's right lung, and his situation is regarded as critical.

LECTURE ON SAFETY

Chesapeake and Ohio Safety Trust Committee Will Hear C. W. Elgin.

C. W. Elgin, of the Baltimore and Ohio system, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Safety of Railway Employees" to the safety trust committee of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad next Tuesday evening at the Railroad Young Men's Christian Association.

The safety trust committee is an organization of Chesapeake and Ohio employees formed for the purpose of promoting the "golden rule" of railroad—"Take the safe course when in doubt." H. H. Morris, superintendent, is chairman. He is a recent addition to Richmond's railroad force, having only received his appointment as division superintendent last November.

MANY NEWSPAPER MEN ENTERING CONGRESS

They Are Getting Elected to House and Senate in Whole Sale Quantities.

Washington, January 10.—For many a militant, fast-marching decade the slashing, dashing and dauntless assaults of journalism upon the Senate and the House of Representatives always have been conducted from that column of vantage known as the Press Gallery.

Now, however, an admirable variant of this frontal and rather broadside style of campaign has been discovered. The "floor privilege," once rare and highly prized, is rare no longer. Let the secret be whispered gently, lest the shock be too great to the Tories and the ultra-conservatives. But here goes.

Editors and journalists are actually getting elected to the House and the Senate in wholesale quantities.

Come From All Sections.
Of course, brilliant and otherwise purveyors of publicity have sat in the august halls of legislation for a good many years but the election of 1912 brought a regular fraternity of regular colony of them, to Washington. They come from all sections of the nation, ready to fix a hard, cold, unfeeling editorial eye upon the Congressional Record, and extract at least some of the tortuous, labyrinthine verbosity which is enshrined there, and ready to deliver some speeches in both the upper and the lower House which will not sound like the interminable convolutions of a legal automaton.

At the next session of Congress it is quite possible the Senate desks will have typewriters attached, and the sharp cry to lengthy speechmakers of "get all the news up in the first paragraph, please. Don't string the stuff out."

Texas a Newspaper Man.

Even Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, who has never been a particular friend of the journalistic spotlight when he couldn't manipulate it himself, resigned to allow a newspaper man, Colonel Johnston, of the Houston Post, to fill out his term. Senator Hitchcock, who has been in the Senate for two years, is also a newspaper man of some standing in Nebraska, being the owner of an Omaha newspaper and a few other publications.

No one has yet taken an accurate census of the journalists who are coming to the House of Representatives with the extra session that President-elect Wilson will call. Their exact number will not be known until the new congressional directory is issued, but their number is legion.

WEEK OF PRAYER ENDS

The week-of-prayer services which have been in progress since Sunday evening at the Second Presbyterian Church were closed last night by a lecture or sermon by Rev. Andrew Allan of Farmville, on the subject, "Prayer." His talk was pronounced by the large congregation as one of the finest of the series.

Among those in attendance at the service was Rev. J. H. Williams, who has just accepted a call to the Third Presbyterian Church, to succeed Rev. R. R. Eggleston. Mr. Williams is well-known in Richmond, having been graduated from Union Theological Seminary. He comes to the local pulpit now from Atlanta, Ga.

The conference yesterday was devoted to Sunday school work, an address by Rev. D. Clay Lilly, on "The Holy Spirit," opening the afternoon service. Last night was served in the church following his talk.

The first period of the evening service was devoted to round table conference on various phases of Sunday school work. Rev. Joseph T. Watts spoke on "The Organized Class." Miss Branch Hylford conducted a discussion on "Interdenominational Work." Rev. W. E. Hutchinson presided. Mr. Allan was a lecturer on the "Religious Teaching of Genesis."

CASTRO GOES BACK TO ELLIS ISLAND

Has His Day in Court and Is Defeated Temporarily.

New York, January 10.—Cipriano Castro, former President of Venezuela, who declares he is being unlawfully prevented by the immigration authorities from entering this country, had his day in court to-day before a federal tribunal in this city, but to-night is back again on Ellis Island, defeated temporarily, at least, in his attempt to land.

The writ of habeas corpus in his behalf was not dismissed outright when the matter came up for hearing before Judge Holt. The judge, however, announced his intention to dismiss it, but held his decision in abeyance until he could settle the question as to whether he had authority to grant an application for Castro's release on bond pending determination by the immigration authorities of the Venezuelan's right to remain in this country.

Judge Holt said he was disposed to grant the application for bail, provided he had authority to do so, and requested counsel to submit briefs. He probably will render a decision to-morrow.

Judge Holt upheld the contention of District Attorney Wise that Castro's examination by the immigration authorities had not been completed, and for that reason the court had no authority to interfere. Castro's counsel, George Gordon Battle, held that the case had, in fact, been completed, on the ground that the immigration authorities had "extracted from him under duress" a promise to leave the country against his wishes. Mr. Battle read from an affidavit of Castro, in which the Venezuelan set forth that he had refused to answer certain questions put by a special board of inquiry concerning the internal affairs of Venezuela, and had been told that if he would promise to go back inquiry into his affairs would be dropped.

Mr. Battle declared Castro had been denied the right to confer with counsel in the presence of an immigration officer. "No law in this country says that counsel shall have access to his client without a government officer standing over him," commented Judge Holt. "Under these circumstances a man's detention would be certainly illegal."

District Attorney Wise, however, pointed out that Castro had had the help of counsel in preparing his petition.

Mr. Battle, in commenting to-night upon the ruling of the court, declared that Castro "had accomplished the objects for which the writ was issued out."

"Judge Holt has distinctly ruled," he said, "that General Castro shall be entitled to consult freely with his counsel, and that the immigration authorities must proceed promptly and in a legal manner by a special board of inquiry to determine whether any just cause exists for excluding him from this country."

This is a single sentence from a speech in Princess Anne Courtroom this afternoon by R. R. Hicks, an attorney exhorting A. E. Kellam, former clerk of the Circuit Court, who was defeated in November, 1911, by Dr. Emerson Land, of Virginia Beach. The contest Kellam has been waging ended this afternoon with argument by attorneys. Judge West, of Sussex, reserved his decision. It will be rendered at the next session of court, a fortnight from now.

Mr. Hicks stood in front of Kellam, and pointing his finger in the one-time clerk's face, demanded:

"Is this a fit man for this place? Why has he sat mute through all this trial, when witness after witness has come on the stand and declared he was approached by those who had Kellam money to offer?

"Even the bartender against whom the charge was made that he paid out Kellam money, came here and indignantly denied the charge. This man sits silent."

OPENED LETTER

Colored Woman Arrested for Stealing Money From Registered Mail.

Lucy Washington, colored, was arrested last night by Bicycle Officer Beto on the charge of stealing $1.40 from Jack Washington. She is alleged to have signed for a registered letter from J. W. Washington, mailed at Codon, Va., opened it and taken the cash which was inclosed. Later she is alleged to have given the letter to Washington, but failed to give him the money, and refused to do so when it was demanded. The case will most likely be called to the attention of the post-office authorities.

Tables Turned.

When he attempted to hit Richard Washington, an aged negro merchant, of 1104 St. John Street, with a meat cleaver last night, James Stephens, also colored, had the tables turned upon him. The old man took the cleaver away and gave him a severe beating. He was so badly bruised that it was necessary to summon Dr. O. C. Page, City Hospital ambulance surgeon, to treat him. He was removed to his home, 512 North Second Street.

Watch and Cash Stolen.

R. L. Bowen, of 222 Jefferson Avenue, yesterday reported to the police that his house was entered and one watch and $2 in currency stolen.

Married in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Jeffress announce the marriage of their niece, Margaret Lynn Lewis Jones, to Harris Willingham, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Willingham. The ceremony took place in Washington yesterday.

The Best Stories of the Best Writers

REX BEACH

The Thaw at Slisco's

A red-blood story of Alaska

BY REX BEACH.

A tense, strong, gripping, thrilling tale of the ice-bound country.

Why Miss All These Good Things?

A Digger of Tubes

One of a series by a great naturalist.

BY CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS.

The "Scrap" between animal householders—curiously interesting and amusing.

The Savage Breasts of Idlewild

A pleasing romance of music and politics.

BY EARL DERR BIGGERS.

The Ratagans wanted to break into "society," and how they tried it makes a clever yarn.

A Billion for Automobiles

BY EDWARD LYELL FOX.

One of every thirty persons owns an automobile. You doubt it? This interesting article will convince you. Order the paper to-day.

THE ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY MAGAZINE

—of—

The Times-Dispatch

"THE BEST THERE IS IN SUNDAY READING."

Children Should Have Good Light for Studying

A poor light strains the eyes, and the injurious effects may last for life. An oil lamp is best. The light from the Rayo Lamp is soft and mellow. You can read or work under it for hours without hurting your eyes.

The RAYO is constructed scientifically. It is the best lamp made—yet inexpensive and economical. Made of solid brass—nickel plated. Lighted without removing chimney or shade. Easy to clean and rewick. Made in various styles and for all purposes.

Dealers Everywhere
STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(Incorporated in New Jersey)
Newark, N. J. Baltimore, Md.